VOLUME XXXIX NO. 70

SEYMOUR, INDIANA, MONDAY, MARCH 22, 1920.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

PER CENT. OF GAIN IS ABOVE AVERAGE

Growth of Seymour in Last Ten Years Compares Very Favorable with Other Cities.

INCREASE IS 16.5 PER CENT.

Washington Dispatch Comments on Increased Population Shown by Census Figures.

Although many people are disappointed that the official census figures did not show Seymour to be a city of 9,000 or 10,000 people, a comparison of the percentage gain made by Seymour reveals that few cities thus far reported have made an increase of 16.5 per cent. in the last ten years. Newcastle showed a gain of 53.1 per cent. the largest that has been reported in Indiana up to this time. It is not believed that any other city in this part of the state will show a gain larger than that made by Seymour.

Everett Watkins, Washington correspondent of the Indianapolis Star, contributed an article this morning relative to the population figures for Indiana cities. The paragraph devoted to Seymour, which by the way is printed in capital letters while the names of other towns appear in lower case reads:

"SEYMOUR, Ind., included Ambassador Joe Shea, who is America's diplomatic representative in Chili, when it counted 7,348 noses, representing a gain of 16.5 per cent in comparison with the 1910 count. Seymour will be pardoned for holding its head a bit high both because of its increased population and because it's the home town of a United States ambassador. It has other celebrities, too, including Tom Honan."

Watkins may be trying to leave the impression that in order to show a gain of 16.5 per cent, it was necessary for this city to enumerate "former residents." In the case of Ambassador Shea, however, Seymour is mighty proud to enroll him as a citizen. Ambassador Shea retains Seymour as his home and he votes here. Only recently he wrote to a friend and told him to be sure to file any necessary registration papers that are required. Ambassador Shea wants to be counted a citizen of Seymour and Seymour rejoices that Ambassador Shea's legal residence is here.

There may be a few cities in the state which will show much larger gains than made here, but where the percentage is greater, the chances are ten to one that special campaigns have been waged and that the increases recorded were not the result of a steady development. Taking the census as a whole the local enumeration report is very satisfactory. It shows that the city is steadily growing and that the advancement is retained from year to year.

CHARLES HAZELWOOD DIES AT SCHNECK HOSPITAL

Austin Man Succumbs to Serious Attack of Appendicitis—Burial At Crothersville.

Charles Hazelwood, a resident of Austin, died at the Schneck hospital in this city Sunday night after suffering an attack of appendicitis. The deceased was brought to the hospital last Thursday where he underwent an operation.

The body was taken to Crothersville this morning to the home of the deceased's uncle John Roseberry, where the funeral service will be held Tuesday. The deceased is survived by three brothers and two sisters, together with several other relatives.

Mr. Hazelwood received his discharge from the army a few months ago after a long service with the American Expeditionary Forces in France thirty-two days of which he spent on the battle front. He was twenty-eight years old. Interment in the Crothersville cemetery.

BUSY SEASON ON THE FARM IS NEAR

Large Acreage Will Be Broken in Few Days if the Bright, Warm Weather Continues.

HOME GARDENS ARE PLANNED

Scores of Local People Expect to Combat High Cost of Vegetables This Summer.

The bright, warm days of spring have turned the minds of the public to outdoor work and the spirit of the season is as evident in the city as in the rural districts. To Seymour residents the arrival of spring means a time to get rid of the trash and rubbish that has accumulated during the winter months, get the lawn in order and brighten up the house, sheds and fences with paint and white wash. In the rural district the coming of the new season means the arrival of much work. In a few days the farmers will be employed from daylight to nightfall getting their ground in readiness for seed.

The coming summer promises to be one of the biggest crop years in the history of the county. Farmers declare that the prospects for wheat are not the best, but that even this crop will be greatly benefited by a long period of warm weather. The wheat was sown under unfavorable conditions last fall and much of it suffered by the early fall freezes and the open winter. The tender plants did not grow sufficiently to withstand the cold and as little snow fell during the winter the fields were afforded no protection. It is yet too early to make predictions as to the probable crop although it is quite certain that the yield will not be as large as last year.

Farmers regard the early spring conditions as highly favorable for other crops. Of course, it is several weeks until planting time and a number of things might happen before the seed is put in the ground. However, the rains came early this year and this is taken as a favorable indication. Last year the crops were delayed or damaged by continued rains late in the season.

Many farmers are planning some repairing and building during the year. The business of farming has been more profitable during the last few years than heretofore and the additional revenue is being placed in improvements on the farm. Local retailers who handle fencing, roofing and building material say that the demand has been unusually heavy this year.

Scores of local people are expecting to give attention to the appearance of their lawns during the spring. Flower seeds have been on display for several weeks and the demand has been general. Flower boxes and flower beds will soon be prepared and before many weeks the city will be in its gorgeous spring attire.

Contractors assert that there is more building and remodeling in progress or in prospect now than for many years. Some of the contracting firms are refusing to file estimates on new buildings and residences because of the great amount of work they already have. Painters also have much work ahead and see a busy summer season.

Although the price of building material is higher than ever before this apparently does not interfere with the desire of local people for new residences or remodeled homes. Many contractors say that there is so much uncertainty about buying material that they do not dare contract for work, but accept it on a time basis.

DELIVERY TRUCK AND BICYCLE IN COLLISION

William Knoke, Deaf Mute, Sustains Painful Injuries in Accident Saturday Evening.

William Knoke, a deaf mute, narrowly escaped serious injury Saturday evening when a bicycle which he was riding collided with the Ray R. Keach Grocery truck driven by Gordon Harrod. The accident occurred in front of the postoffice on Chestnut street. According to those who witnessed the accident Mr. Knoke had come out of the postoffice and after mounting his bicycle started to turn around on Chestnut street.

The delivery truck was going south on Chestnut. The driver blew his horn and at the same time put on his brakes, but the unfortunate man could not hear and rode in front of the machine. The machine struck the front wheel of the bicycle and the rider was thrown to the street. In falling one of his little fingers was broken and his face was badly bruised. Mr. Harrod stopped his truck and rushed to the injured man's assistance. He was placed in the car and taken to a physician's office where an examination proved that his injuries were not serious. The delivery truck was being driven at a slow rate of speed when the accident happened and if it had been going faster it is believed that the bicycle rider would have sustained more serious injuries.

DAMAGE SUIT CASE TRIED IN COURT TODAY

Case of Fred Beard vs. Ralph Thompson Goes to Jury This Afternoon.

The case of Fred Beard vs. Ralph Thompson for damages, was tried in the Jackson circuit court today and went to the jury late this afternoon. The case developed out of an automobile collision which occurred near Indianapolis last October. Three witnesses testified in the case today.

The case of Nelson G. Harrod vs. Melvin Ballard is set for trial in circuit court Tuesday. This case was tried at the December term of court before a jury which was unable to agree on a verdict and was dismissed by the court after deliberating for several hours. The case developed over the death of a fine Holstein cow owned by the plaintiff who alleges that the animal died from an injury sustained when struck by a hammer which was thrown by the defendant. A number of witnesses will be called in the case.

This week promises to be a busy one in circuit court. It is the last of the February term and a number of cases will be disposed of before the week-ends.

J. L. SPRAGUE CANDIDATE FOR AUDITOR NOMINATION

Freetown Business Man Seeks Place on Republican Ticket—Serving as Commissioner.

John L. Sprague, of Freetown, who was elected a commissioner of Jackson county in the election of 1918, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for auditor in the Republican primary to be held Tuesday, May 4. Mr. Sprague holds the distinction of being the only Republican ever elected commissioner in this county on a straight partisan ticket. He has made a splendid record in his present position and has received encouragement from all parts of the county to make the race for auditor.

Mr. Sprague is well qualified for the position he is seeking. He taught school for several years after he was graduated from high school and later engaged in business in Freetown successfully conducting a general store. His business is one of the most extensive of any country store in the county. He is well known in every township and undoubtedly will make a good race.

ELBERT CABINET IN SESSION IN BERLIN

Ministers of Republican Government Consider Spartacan Outbreaks in Germany.

RETURN OF ORDER PREDICTED

Independent Socialists Make Many Concessions Which Cabinet Will Be Forced to Grant.

By United Press

Berlin, March 22.—The Elbert cabinet here met late yesterday to consider the situation brought about by Spartacan outbreaks throughout Germany. President Elbert called his ministers in session after he reached the city. For the present, it is understood Gustav Noske will retain his position as minister of defense.

Government officials confidently predicted a return of normal conditions despite the fact that the general strike is still partly effective. They believe a majority of the workers will return to their posts.

The independent socialists, it was understood, have demanded numerous concessions which they believe the Elbert Government would be forced to grant because of the serious situation in west Germany where many towns are under control of radicals.

Berlin was beginning to assume a normal aspect. All Baltic troops are said to have been withdrawn from the city.

DAILY SAYS HE IS NOT CANDIDATE FOR SENATE

By United Press

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 22.—Assistant Attorney-General Frank Daily who is being boomed for United States Senator from Indiana, left Sunday for Indianapolis. He will go from there to French Lick Springs for a rest. A week before Daily left here word was coming from Indiana that Democratic leaders had picked him as a senatorial candidate. He refused at all times to discuss the situation, saying "I do not want the office. I am determined to stick to my law business."

COAL SHORAGE ACUTE THROUGHOUT INDIANA

Practically No Coal Available at Gary—Supply in Other Cities Exhausted.

By United Press

Indianapolis, March 22.—Indiana today is in the grip of a coal shortage almost as acute as that of last November during the coal strike. Reports from all over the state show that industries and private homes are having difficulty in obtaining fuel. Gary, one of the state's most important industrial centers, is practically without coal.

The operators blame lack of transportation facilities for the shortage. Retailers in Indianapolis are unable to supply the demand. At Bluffton the dealers have no anthracite for sale.

SIMS SAYS BENSON UTTERED WARNING

Testimony Relative to Instructions "Don't Let British Pull Wool Over Your Eyes."

CHIEF OF NAVAL OPERATIONS

Sims Testifies He Was Sent to Europe Because U. S. Intended to Enter War.

By United Press

Washington, March 22.—It was Admiral William Benson who warned Admiral Sims "don't let the British pull the wool over your eyes," Sims declared at the senate inquiry today. Several weeks ago Sims told the senate naval sub-committee that such a warning had been given to him during a conference of the navy department as he was about to sail for Europe only a few weeks before this country entered the war.

Benson at the time of the alleged utterance was chief of naval operations. He is now head of the shipping board.

Sims said the incident occurred either just before or just after he had been in Secretary Daniels' office receiving his orders to go to Europe.

"I think the committee should have the name of the officer," Chairman Hale stated.

"Well, it was Admiral Benson, who was then chief of naval operations," Sims said. "I received no further instruction from him. It was preceded by nothing, followed by nothing and told me in all seriousness. I left immediately. Sims referred to Benson as being 'intensely anti-British' and said his statement was repeated in substance on two occasions. The instructions Sims alleges Benson gave him were: 'Don't let the British pull the wool over your eyes. It is none of our business pulling their chestnuts out of the fire. We would as soon fight the British as the Germans.'"

Sims said "any man who is intensely anti-British or anti-French will always be held by those sentiments."

Senator Pittman, Democrat, pointed out that the incident occurred before the United States declared war.

"But I was being sent over because we were going into the war. I knew it perfectly well," Sims said. "No one else knew it," Pittman observed sarcastically. "Your pre-knowledge was perfectly remarkable."

Senator Pittman attempted to show Sims had given to the press his letter which contained the sensational charges against the navy department.

"You're trying to show I fixed this thing," Sims told Pittman. "I'm no spring chicken in this business, and I'm not putting my head into a noose unnecessarily."

LOWLANDS IN SOUTHERN INDIANA ARE FLOODED

Ohio River at Evansville Continues to Rise—Wabash Above Flood Stage.

By United Press

Evansville, March 22.—The Ohio river continued to rise today and flood the lowlands of Southern Indiana and Kentucky. The Wabash river also is rising and farmers living near it are preparing to abandon their homes if it continues to rise.

No one has been drowned yet by the high water, but according to reports received here, some chickens and small livestock were swept away.

Tributaries of the Ohio and Wabash are also above flood stage because there is no outlet for water and much land is submerged by these.

Bad Sickness

Caused by Acid-Stomach

If people only realized the health-destroying power of an acid-stomach—of the many kinds of sickness and misery it causes—of the lives it literally wrecks—they would guard against it as carefully as they do against a deadly plague. You know in an instant the first symptoms of acid-stomach—pains of indigestion; distressing, painful bloating; sour, gassy stomach; belching; food repeating; heartburn, etc. Whenever your stomach feels this way you should lose no time in putting it to rights. If you don't, serious consequences are almost sure to follow, such as intestinal fermentation, auto-intoxication, impairment of the entire nervous system, headache, biliousness, cirrhosis of the liver, sometimes even catarrh of the stomach and intestinal ulcers and cancer. If you are not feeling right, see if it isn't acid-stomach that is the cause of your ailment. Take EATONIC, the wonderful modern stomach remedy. EATONIC Tablets quickly and surely relieve the pain, bloating, belching, and heartburn that indicate acid-stomach. Make the stomach strong, clean and sweet. By keeping the stomach in healthy condition so that you can get full strength from your food, your general health steadily improves. Results are marvelously quick. Just try EATONIC and you will be as enthusiastic as the thousands who have used it and who say they never dreamed anything could bring such marvelous relief.

So get a big 50-cent box of EATONIC from your druggist today. If not satisfactory return it and he will refund your money.

EATONIC

(FOR YOUR ACID-STOMACH)

the nation. Republican Floor Leader Mondell, of Wyoming, in a recent address in the house expressed the belief that women will have throw their influence for legislation that will be wholesome and American.

"With the action of the state of West Virginia," said Mr. Mondell, "the adoption of woman's suffrage amendment to the constitution seems practically assured, and all good citizens have reason to rejoice over this extension of the franchise and welcome with enthusiasm this new body of voters.

"Much credit is due to the faithful and earnest women who, through all manner of discouragement, have steadily and without faltering fought the good fight and labored unremittingly for the triumph of the cause. They are to be congratulated on the outcome and commended for their successful efforts in a cause which means so much for the good of humanity.

"America will be better and, through America's influence, the world will be better for this extension of the franchise. Not all of the reforms and changes hoped for by some, through the influence of this new body of voters, will be accomplished or realized. On the other hand, those timid souls who fear extreme and radical action through the influence of the new voters will be happily disappointed.

"Women are idealists; they are sympathetic, but they are conservative rather than radical, and their influence, while constantly exerted in the right direction, will, in my opinion, be exerted with judgment and reason and conservatism.

"America's new voters will have a powerful influence in promoting the enactment of good laws and in aiding in their enforcement."

THE TEMPERANCE ISSUE.

A recent Washington dispatch stated that the liquor interests of the country have undertaken to control the next congress in an effort to bring about the repeal or at least a modification of the federal prohibition law. It is reported that this group is planning to nominate a representative in nearly every district in the country who will make a campaign on the single issue of temperance or "personal liberty."

The temperance people of the nation realize that their work is not ended. They are now called upon to defend the legislation that has been enacted. Sentiment in favor of federal prohibition is growing. It is stronger today than when the nationwide act was passed. The term "personal liberty" is a catch phrase and is ambiguous. The welfare of the nation is far more important than that of the individual. This fact is generally recognized that there are hundreds of citizens who opposed temperance legislation a year ago, but are now advocates of such a measure. With women throughout the land participating in the next election there is little likelihood that the present liquor restrictions will be altered.

The weather man is making good headway in his Spring campaign.

CHANGE IN UNIVERSITY SYSTEM TO BE ATTEMPTED

Intensive Development of Small Colleges is Aim of Baptists of North.

A complete reversal of the tendencies in American college education may be brought about by the work the Northern Baptist Convention proposes to accomplish with a large portion of the $100,000,000 fund being raised in its New World Movement. An intensive development of the small university, an effort to break away from the tradition of "big schools" will be the distinguishing factor in this work. The business of reviving the small college as a leading factor in higher education and thus freeing the greater institutions with their expensive technical equipment for research and advanced scientific activities is looked upon by leading educators as one of the most important steps which should be taken in keeping American education up to a satisfactory standard.

Dr. J. Y. Aitchison general director of the New World Movement outlined the above plan to a meeting of Baptist leaders. Leading educators contributing to the Baptist survey of the country's needs have decided that the following situation today obtains, "for years the drift has been toward the large institution, with its huge endowment and splendid equipment. The small struggling college has had a hard time of it competing with its larger brother. As a result thousands of students have been gathered in the greater schools and subjected very often to machine like training with a minimum of individual attention. The need today is for small colleges which with adequate endowment will be able to give a training superior in many important respects to that offered by the large university." Altogether $28,010,000 is to be devoted by the Northern Baptists to the work of improvement of the smaller colleges affiliated with the denomination. The Baptist educational work headed by the University of Chicago contains 68 colleges and academies with more than 500 buildings, valued at more than $155,000,000.

HOME MADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-Feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the grandest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, enervated men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, yes, twice as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you.

Seven a day for seven days—Wonderful results.

HODAPP—HUFNAGEL

The Trinity Methodist church was the scene of a pretty wedding at high noon Sunday when Miss Mabel Hodapp, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hodapp, and Artus Hufnagel, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Hufnagel, were united in marriage by Rev. B. E. E. Fischbach, the church pastor. The ceremony was performed at the close of the morning service and was witnessed by the congregation which included relatives and many close friends of the bride and groom. The ring ceremony was used. Don A. Bollinger presided at the pipe organ. As the bride party entered the church he played Lohengrin's wedding march. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, where she was met by the groom and the Rev. Fischbach, and the nuptial ceremony was performed.

The bride wore a white dress of embroidered organdie and net, with large picture hat. She carried a pink silk basket of roses. Her traveling suit was brown with small hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Hufnagel were the honor guests at a dinner at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hodapp, following the ceremony. Twenty-seven relatives and friends were in attendance and an elegant course dinner was served. The bride and groom left over the Pennsylvania railroad at 4:01 Sunday afternoon for Indianapolis where they will make their future home. The bride is one of Seymour's most accomplished young women and has a host of friends in the city who join in extending congratulations and best wishes. The groom for several months was employed at the Union Hardware store in this city. He accepted a position in Indianapolis several weeks ago. Mr. and Mrs. Hufnagel will be at home to their friends at 1205 West Thirty-first street, Indianapolis, Indiana.

IT'S A LONG WAY TO SOUTH WALES BUT THE RED CROSS IS THERE

BEATRICE MANLEY, seven years old and "small to her age," has arrived at her new home in Wales, where she will live with her grandparents. Beatrice has been a protégé of the Red Cross for several months while arrangements were pending for her journey to the country overseas.

When the influenza epidemic raged so strongly a year ago Beatrice's father and mother died at their home in Gravelly, Kentucky. The grandparents in South Wales wrote to the British Consul in this country asking him to plan for Beatrice's trip to Wales, where she would live with them.

The British Consul enlisted the services of the American Red Cross. After the death of her parents, Beatrice was taken by a kindly family near her home. The people offered to care for her as their own, but the prior claim of the grandparents was readily acceded when the Red Cross told them of the letter from Wales.

Then while the Red Cross Home Service Sections in that part of Kentucky were busy settling up Beatrice's "estate" of $45 and securing for sale, furniture that had graced the little Manley home and which had been taken by neighbors who thought they deserved it for care given the Manleys, Beatrice awaited further word of her journey to Wales.

Several matters had to be straightened out first and the Red Cross was commissioned to find for the small traveler a suitable chaperone. Weeks passed until one was secured and the child became a great favorite with the passengers aboard ship. A representative of London Chapter of the American Red Cross, which is under jurisdiction of the Fourteenth Division, met Beatrice when she arrived in Plymouth, where the grandparents awaited her. The Fourteenth Division has arranged for a visitor from the Cardiff, Wales, Chapter to visit the home frequently and keep in touch with the family.

The London Chapter writes: "Mr. and Mrs. Manley are delighted to have Beatrice with them and are very grateful to the Red Cross for care given the child. They had not been away from their village before and felt but for the Red Cross they would have had great difficulty in finding the child at the port."

Attention Scouts, Troop 2.

FORMER MAYOR INDORSES TANLAC

"You Will Hardly Know Me When We Meet Again; For I Am Getting Well," He Writes Friend.

One of the latest additions to the list of leaders of thought and action who have come forward with their unqualified endorsement of Tanlac is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former Mayor of Birmingham, Ala., Ex-State Examiner of Public Accounts of Alabama, and at one time editor of one of the South's greatest newspapers, The Birmingham Ave. Herald.

Writing to a personal friend in Atlanta, Mr. Evans said:

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 2nd.

".....By the way, you will hardly know me when we meet again, because I am getting so well and strong again. As I told you while in Atlanta last month, I have been suffering a long time with gastritis, as the doctors call it—really a disordered stomach with consequent constipation, pains in the shoulders, headache, belching heartburn, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, and fainting spells. For weeks I could not sleep on my back.

"One week ago, upon recommendation of friends who had tried the medicine, I purchased one bottle of Tanlac and began taking it. Since my second dose I have suffered none of these troubles to which I refer, and really believe I am going to get perfectly well and strong again. Won't that be wonderful at my age? Well, certain it is that Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, and you know I am not given to 'pulling' mere experiments, and am rather orthodox as to materia medica.

"I shall continue the treatment with perfect confidence in the final results."

Signed,

"Frank V. Evans."

Tanlac is sold in Seymour by E. F. Maxon, and in Crothersville by C. W. Taulman, and in Brownstown by Chas. Brock.

ALL WOULD BE BOYS AGAIN.

Dan Beard at a recent scout rally in Scranton told the boys that they must not be afraid or overawed by "the bunch of clergymen, dignified judges and confidentially that there is not a man in the crowd who would not be willing to change places with the greenest tenderfoot among the scouts present."

This remark seemed to hit both the boys and men very favorably, and Robert L. Graham was moved to send these lines to the scout commissioner:

I'd like to hit the good old trail,
And tramp the woods near home till sore.
I'd like to be with old-time pals,
I'd like to be a boy once more.

I hear the bugle calling,
It's calling me back again—
Back to the land of "Yesterday,"
To the camp of "What-has-been."

I think I see the bugler,
His name is "Memory,"
And he's calling for this "good scout"
To come back and happy be.

SCOUT OATH GAVE MOST HELP.

A Boston paper offered a prize for the paragraph that had given the greatest inspiration and help. Lines from Tennyson and others were sent in by the hundred. The letter that gained the prize was as follows:

I am only a boy, and boys' opinions are not respected by most grown-ups, but we have them just the same.

The paragraph which helps me the most is the Boy Scout oath, as follows:

On my honor, I will do my best:
1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the scout law.
2. To help other people at all times.
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS OFFERS ANNUAL PRIZE FOR RED CROSS WORK

THE American Red Cross issues four prizes each year for remarkable examples of First Aid work. These are:

1st Prize.....$50.00
2nd Prize.....25.00
3rd Prize.....15.00
4th Prize.....10.00

Competition for these prizes is open to all holders of Red Cross First Aid certificates and in special case, to others who have been instructed in First Aid under the auspices of the Red Cross and yet may not hold certificates.

An account of the nature of the injury is required, together with the statement of the person doing the First Aid, supplemented by a statement from the physician to whom the case goes following the First Aid work done.

This competition is decided every year in December by National Headquarters of the Red Cross. It has been the experience of National Headquarters that a great many people delay sending in these accounts until December. Then they arrive too late to be considered as First Aid work done in that calendar year.

It is requested further that these accounts of First Aid rendered be sent to the Lake Division director of First Aid, Cleveland, typewritten if possible with carbon enclosure. These accounts will be sent speedily to Washington.

HIGH LIGHTS FROM WOOD'S INDIANAPOLIS ADDRESS

The only way to success is through honest labor.

There is a lot of loose talking going on, but stand by the Constitution; don't believe the people who talk against it; don't believe anybody who recommends any radical change in our government.

The real remedy for the high cost of living—the real and only remedy is increased production.

We want to spread the burden of war over a long period, and get the strangle hold of excess taxation off the throat of business. The cost of the war should not be borne by the men who fought it.

We want a small army. I recommend an army about twice the size of the army before the war—200,000 men, or a little more. That was one-third the size recommended by the war department.

Indianapolis, Ind. (Special)—Governor under the Constitution which he upheld as the most wonderful instrument ever given to man for management of a state, was earnestly advocated by Leonard Wood, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, in a speech delivered at the Columbia Club here last week. The speech was the first campaign address Wood has made in Indiana and was the signal for the opening of the active primary campaign which will be made in Indiana by the Wood forces.

Wood was greeted here by his supporters from every part of the state representing every congressional district. His appearance at the Columbia Club Friday at noon was marked by a rousing ovation which lasted for several minutes. At the Claypool hotel, where he made a public address later in the day, he was again given a demonstrative greeting, by about 3,000 people who had gathered to hear him.

NIGHT CALLS—PHONE 47

The general made hundreds of friends by his positive stands on the important questions of the day. His advocacy of a plan for relieving the war tax burdens, a strong foreign policy, Americanization of the peace treaty and a policy of thrift and retrenchment in governmental expenditures were roundly applauded.

To the women, many of whom attended the luncheon speech, Wood addressed a large portion of his talk. He urged them to get into politics wholeheartedly with the men, advised them to see that men go to the polls, and gave to them the responsibility for legislation that will abolish labor conditions that are ruinous to the health and happiness of women and children.

Among other things he stood for were better pay for school teachers, the right of cabinet officers to appear on the floor before congress in defense of their own policies, a national department of public works to unify and systematize expenditures, a national budget system, rigid economy and thrift in the national life, extension of the war taxes over a longer period, and the protection of American citizens and property abroad.

No Money for Ransom.

"We want a good strong foreign policy," he said, "not a vacillating policy, but a good strong policy. We want the man in Mexico to feel the encircling arms of the United States and that he is going to be protected. We want him to have the same assurance if he is in China. We want to adopt a new slogan—Not a dollar for ransom but millions for rescue."

Danger in Indifference.

In discussing the social and industrial problems of the day the speaker declared against radical legislation. "We have got to work against radical legislation at this time," he said. "There are a lot of people who talk about progress. Many of them mistake movement for progress. Some of them are like the whirling dervishes; they are moving rapidly but not getting anywhere. You will find people all over the country who say, 'I am a very progressive person.' Just ask them 'Where are you going and they don't know. We want to progress but we want no blind leap in the dark. Go ahead but know definitely where we are going. The more ignorant a man is the more prompt he is in passing out new advice and new ideas. We want to seek new ideas, but I think we ought to be careful now because the whole world is afire with the spirit of unrest. The danger here is not the alien Red. He is simply a nuisance; that is all. The danger is our own indifference."

MONEY TO BE MADE BY GROWING WALNUT TREES

State Department of Conservation Urges Farmer to Plant More Trees.

By United Press
Indianapolis, March 22—With walnuts selling at fifteen cents a pound and walnut lumber ranging from $125 to $140 per thousand feet in the markets, the state department of conservation today advised Hoosiers to plant walnut trees.

It is easy to get them started, according to Charles C. Deam, state forester. "All you have to do is to bury the nuts in the ground a few inches deep where you wish the trees to grow," he said. "If there is danger of the nuts being dug up by mice, or squirrels it is best to bury them in sand in a box and about April 25 transfer the nuts to the planting site."

Walnut trees grow rapidly, according to Deam, and have insect enemies, except the caterpillar which which defoliates the branches and which are easily destroyed.

NO CHARGE FOR EXCHANGE OF TEMPORARY LIBERTY BONDS

New Bonds Delivered by Treasury Department Through Banks Without Cost to Holder.

Uncle Sam makes no charge for the exchange of temporary into permanent Liberty bonds. The temporary ones may be surrendered through banks and trust companies and forwarded by them to the Federal reserve bank of Chicago. The new bonds will be delivered at the expense of the United States. This official announcement was made by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago that the Liberty bond holders might know that they do not have to pay anything to the banks for exchanging the bonds for them. The exchange of bonds started March 15.

In the Seventh federal reserve district there are outstanding $502,000,000 of the third loan bonds, dated May 9, 1918 and maturing September 15, 1928. To this issue there were close to 3,450,000 individual subscribers. On and after April 1 the reserve bank expects to have sufficient supplies of the permanent bonds of the first and second 4s and first and second 4½s to go around. Of these four classes there are outstanding in this district about $518,000,000 worth.

The first 4s represent conversions of the first 3½ per cent Liberty loan bonds to the 4 per cent bonds of the second liberty loan. There is every advantage in converting these to the 4½ per cent, bonds of the third Liberty loan, as they retain their original maturity dates. The first 4s have been without an interest coupon since last December; the second 4s since November. This interest will be fully adjusted on the exchange into permanent bonds.

She was talking very gravely, as though witches were the commonest topic of conversation, but finding my eyes turned upon her in frank wonder, she laughed at my amazement.

"Let us be honest with you, Mr. Singleton," Mrs. Farnsworth explained, "and tell you that we are just testing you. It may be a breach of hospitality, and you are but a stranger, but we are curious to know whether you are of that small company of the favored of heaven—who can play at being foolish without becoming idiotic. Alice is sometimes very near idiotic. You admit that, Alice?"

"I not only admit it, but I might even boast of it!" my aunt replied.

At the mention of witches I had caught Antoine crossing himself as he turned to the sideboard. I confess that I myself had been startled by the drift of the talk. Mrs. Farnsworth and my aunt treated each other as though they were contemporaries, and it was Alice and Constance between them. As the talk ran exhaustively through the lore of witches and goblins I had hoped that one or the other would drop some clue as to the previous history of my amazing aunt. It was as plain as day that she and Mrs. Farnsworth indulged in whims for the joy of it, and her zest in the discussion of witches, carried on while Antoine served the table, lips tightly compressed, and with an exaggeration of his stately tread, was the more startling from the fact that my aunt's companion was a woman of years, a handsome woman with a high-bred air who did not look at all like a person who would discuss witches as though they had been made the topic of the day by the afternoon newspapers. And when the shape of a witch's chin became the immediate point of discussion I knew it was in Antoine's mind that such conversation was unbecoming, an offense to the memory of Raymond Bashford. Mrs. Farnsworth's brown eyes sparkled, and the color deepened in my aunt's cheeks as we discussed upon witches and the chins thereof. I had a friend in college who used to indulge in the same sort of puffing, but that my uncle's widow and her elderly companion should delight in such absurdities bewildered me. I had been addressing my aunt as Mrs. Bashford—it seemed ridiculous to call her Aunt Alice—and in the heat of our argument as to whether witches are necessarily naughty and malign beings I had just uttered the "Mrs." when she bent toward me and said gravely and with no hint of archness: "Can't we make it Alice and Bob? I think that would be a lot friendlier."

"I Might Even Boast of It!" My Aunt Replied.

I experienced a curious flutter of the heart the first time I tried it, but after that it came very easily. She was simply the jolliest, prettiest girl that had ever crossed my horizon, and to be talking to her across the table gave me thrills compared with which sliding out of clouds in an airplane is only a rocking-chair pastime for old men.

We had coffee on the veranda (Alice thought it would be nicer there), and as Antoine gave me my cup he edged close to my chair to whisper:

"That party, sir. If he should come—"

"Tell the troops not to attack any visitors," I said, loud enough for the others to hear. "Mr. Torrence will be here shortly, and it would be annoying to have him ushered in on a shutter."

"I know why this is the land of the free and the home of the brave," laughed Alice. "One has to be brave to live here."

Antoine departed with a resentful twist of the shoulders, and I decided to meet squarely the matter of the visitors who had so troubled him.

"Please don't be frightened," I said as lightly as possible, "but these old fellows haven't enough to do, and they are full of apprehensions. They have been alarmed by an agent of some sort who wants to welcome you to America by selling you a piano on easy payments."

Antoine had been hovering inside, and my remark brought him to the door.

"Beg pardon, Mr. Singleton, but that party is not an agent, but quite different, sir. He came to the house, quite like a gentleman, several times, and asked if Mrs. Bashford had arrived. He came in a big car, and seemed disappointed, madame, that you were not here and not expected. A very well-spoken gentleman, and we'd have thought nothing of it except that a few days later I caught a man I was sure was the same party, but dressed in rough clothes, sneaking across the veranda right there where you're sitting. When I called to him he ran as hard as he could, and Graves—he's the vegetable gardener—saw him leaving the property by the back way."

"It's hardly possible that a man who impressed you as a gentleman when you saw him at the door should have returned in disguise and tried to break into the house."

"Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Farnsworth, "it would be so much more delightful if that were true! Any one in disguise is bound to be interesting. A disguise suggests most beautiful possibilities."

I could not be sure in the dim light of the veranda, but I thought I detected a white slipper cautiously reach out and touch a black one. At any rate, Mrs. Farnsworth lapsed into silence.

"Thank you very much, Antoine," said Alice. "It is very proper for you to tell me anything of any stranger on the property, but I see nothing here to be alarmed about. If the same gentleman calls again, let me know instantly."

"Very good, madame." And then, turning as though conferring upon me a part of his responsibility for the security of the premises: "It's a party with a limp; just a trifling limp, sir; you'd hardly notice it. A smallish man, rather dark, with a little mustache turned up at the ends."

"I have noted all these details, Antoine," I replied; and again I thought there was a telegraphic exchange between the ladies though this time a black slipper was the means of communication.

Torrence arrived in a moment, and nothing has ever given me keener joy than his shock of surprise at beholding Mrs. Bashford. I was devoutly grateful that he had not been present at the dinner-table, for my own efforts to interest Torrence in anything but the most practical matters had always been highly unsuccessful, and the discussion of ghosts and witches would hardly have amused him. As Mrs. Farnsworth and I took up the recent movements on the western front I overheard Torrence putting all the machinery of the trust company at Mrs. Bashford's disposal. It seemed almost a blasphemy to be talking of income and like matters to a woman like Alice Bashford!

They continued their conference for some time, but I got nothing out of Mrs. Farnsworth that shed any light on my aunt's history beyond what she had told me herself, which was precious little. Mrs. Farnsworth's talk was that of a cultivated woman. Her voice interested me unaccountably; the tones had all manner of shadings and inflections; it was curiously musical, but in speaking of the great war a passionate note crept into it that stirred me deeply.

"This has been a dark year for Alice," she remarked. "Mr. Bashford's death, followed quickly by that of her brother—an only son—piled a cruel burden of grief upon the dear child. She wants to go back to England to nurse the wounded, to do anything for our dear country, but I want to keep her here a little while until she can readjust herself. It is my task to encourage her in frivolity and the make-believe she loves—hence our absurdities at the table. She's the drollest child, but with wonderful understanding. And at times it's not easy to keep the divine spark of play alive in her heart."
